REMARKS

The above amendments seek to add new claims 20 and 21, directed to a semiconductor device. Previous claims 18 and 19 were directed to a semiconductor device, but required a substrate that was formed by a method according to claim 6. Thus, claims 18 and 19 were canceled with the cancellation of method claim 6. The above amendments reinstate the claims to the semiconductor device, but require the presence of the substrate of allowed claim 1. As the new claims 20 and 21 essentially track the features of original claims 18 and 19 but instead depend from the allowed claim 1, Applicants submit that no new substantive issues are raised and respectfully request entry of this Amendment.

Respectfully submitted,
